Down Russ Attempts To Alter UN Veto

Six Other Soviet Issues Voted Against

Paris, Sept. 24—(AP)—Western-led majorities today smothered Russia's repeated attempts to throw the veto fight and six other explosive issues out of the United Nations assembly.

Informed delegates predicted the rebuffs would provoke an unusually bitter attack on the majority when Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky makes his nation's policy statement tomorrow morning. He had planned to speak today but delayed because of illness.

Slav Bloc Votes Alone

Except for two items, the six-nation Slav bloc voted alone against majority resolutions from 29 to 47. The 58-nation assembly thus decided over Russian protests to put the following items on the work sheet for full debate in the coming weeks:

1. Argentina's call for consideration of the membership applications of Italy, Austria, Finland, Ireland, Portugal and Trans-Jordan. All have been vetoed by Russia in the Security Council. The vote on this item was 29 to 16 with 10 abstentions and three countries absent. Vote 44 to 6.
2. The Balkan commission report accusing Greece's northern neighbors (Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria) of helping Greek guerrillas. The vote was 44 to 6.
3. The report of the Korean commission which Russia boycotted. The vote was 47 to 6.
4. The little assembly proposal to restrict the veto (Under the charter, the United States, Russia, France, Britain and China hold the right to veto decisions of substance in the Security Council. Through use of the so-called double veto, Russia has been able to control decisions on which issues are of substance and which are not.) The vote was 47 to 6.
5. The proposal that the little assembly be given a further trial. The United States, which originally favored the new body last year, favored another 12-month experiment. The vote was 46 to 6.
6. A little assembly proposal to promote international political cooperation. The vote was 47 to 6.
7. Chile's charge that Russia violated human rights by refusing to permit the Russian-born wife of a son of Chile's ambassador to Moscow to leave the Soviet Union. The vote was 30 to 7 with Burma joining the Slav bloc in opposition.

House Spy Probers Cancel Open Meets At Atomic Hearing

Washington, Sept. 24—(AP)—The House Un-American Activities committee tonight cancelled all plans for public hearings on alleged atom spies, saying such sessions might disclose vital atomic secrets to possible enemies.

However, Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R-N.J.) announced that the committee will issue a full report on its secret investigations to date with recommendations to congress.

Rep. McDowell (R-Pa.) a committee member, proposed that the report recommend indictments against three Americans—including two atomic scientists and a "communist functionary"—on evidence relating to reports that important atomic information has been transmitted to Russia.

Allege American Plotted Assassination Of Peron

Buenos Aires, Sept. 24—(AP)—President Juan Peron accused John Griffith, former cultural attaché of the U.S. embassy, tonight of organizing a plot to assassinate him and topple his government.

Tens of thousands of workers, idled by a 14-hour general strike called in solidarity with Peron, cheered wildly his denunciations of traitors, international capitalists and foreign enemies.

Stirred to anger, the crowd shouted anti-United States slogans before the First National Bank of Boston building and attacked the big South American newspaper, La Prensa, which never has supported Peron.

At least 16 persons were under arrest including Luis Rojido, president of the Labor party, and Cipriano Reyes, a labor leader and former congressman who broke with Peron two years ago.

Griffith, expelled from Argentina in April on a charge of fomenting a bank strike, called the affair "just a detective story invented for 'vengeful persecution'."

Persons pretty Argentine Eva Peron, said by police to have been marked for death with the president in the uprising planned for Columbus Day, Oct. 12. She addressed the throne after Peron spoke, saying she would be willing to die "a thousand times to help the cause of the people."

The state radio estimated 1,000,000 people participated in the demonstration which lasted an hour. Some carried flags. Others had small gallows, implying Peron should hang his foes. He vowed stern justice.

A group of the crowd gained brief entrance to the back door of La Prensa. Employees and police drove them away with fire hoses. They first tried to start a fire at the front door and then tried to batter it down with bricks.

The government earlier had named Griffith, a former Kansas and California teacher, as instigator of a plot scheduled for Columbus Day next month.

Truman Drafts Reply To GOP Talk On Reds

Aboard Truman Campaign Train, Sept. 24—(AP)—President Truman decided today to tangle with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey over the hot communism issue.

As Mr. Truman turned his campaign tour eastward, an aide said his next major speech will be directed toward the republican candidate's statements that red influences are at work in the administration.

That speech is scheduled for Oklahoma City Tuesday afternoon. Today the president made a final stab at California's 25 electoral votes and a new bid for Arizona's four.

Republicans, he said, are trying to make voters "believe they are for one thing when they're really going to do another."

Mr. Truman crossed paths with Dewey early this afternoon. The republican nominee was heading for Los Angeles to attack what the GOP considers communist influences in the government.

While the president was going east west, California, Dewey was going west east, as instigator of a plot scheduled for Columbus Day next month.

Three times Mr. Truman has said the communist hearings of the House Un-American Activities committee are "red herrings" to cover up the failure of congress to act against inflation. At a recent news conference in Washington, he said any statement he had tried to protect communists in the government is a lie out of the whole cloth.

From coast to coast Dewey has been saying he will run reds out of the government if he wins in November. He says if he had been president he wouldn't have had any there in the first place, then the government wouldn't have had to spend $15,000,000 checking up on the loyalty of its workers.

Now the president intends to answer. An assistant on the train who didn't want his name used said the reply is in the drafting stage.

Between now and Tuesday, the chief executive will move through New Mexico and spend three days in Texas. States' right democrats have been active against him in the Lone Star State.

There is a possibility he may try to lure some of them back to his banner, just as he tried in a Los Angeles speech last night to bring into the fold liberals leaning toward Henry Wallace's third party.

Missing U.S. Navy Aircraft Located By Canadian Pilots

Winnipeg, Sept. 24—(AP)—A United States Navy plane missing in Northern Manitoba since Sept. 12 was located today 250 miles northwest of the Pas, with all five of its personnel believed safe, RCAF spokesmen here.

The Beechcraft was unreported since it left Churchill on a 450-mile scheduled flight to the Pas.

It was found by an RCAF search plane on the shore of a mapped but unnamed lake.

The crew on the search plane reported persons could be seen walking on the ground near the U.S. plane.

Aboard when the plane left Churchill were Capt. Sir Robert W. Stirling-Hamilton, naval adviser at the British high commissioner's office at Ottawa, Capt. B. S. Custer, naval attaché at the United States Ottawa embassy, and Lt. Charles States Ottawa embassy as assistant to Capt. Custer.

The pilot was chief petty officer Jack M. Kastner, U.S. Navy. The fifth person aboard was Master Sgt. J. Scallise, United States Army, returning to his home from Churchill for discharge.

Hungarian Student Fights To Remain In United States

Rock Island, Ill., Sept. 24—(AP)—A Hungarian student whose passport has expired today began a fight to avoid return to his homeland.

He is 20-year-old Peter Grunwald of Budapest, a pre-medical student at Augustana College.

Grunwald said he has asked the immigration and naturalization service to allow him to remain in the United States under terms of the displaced persons act of 1938. He said he hopes to become a U.S. citizen.

Dr. Arthur Wald, adviser to foreign students at the college, said he had helped Grunwald prepare his applications to the government agency.

Grunwald came to Rock Island last May under a student's visa. His passport through the Hungarian consul at Cleveland but was told it would take at least a year to obtain a new passport.

Gems Stolen From Actress' Home

New York, Sept. 24—(AP)—Movie actress Gene Tierney (Mrs. Oleg Cassini) reported to police last night that $15,300 worth of jewelry had been stolen from her apartment just off Fifth Avenue.

The actress said the jewelry which she had not worn recently was stolen from a dresser drawer in her bedroom, apparently some time in the past eight days.

Soviets Direct Fire Into Berlin Airlift

Dewey Promises To Oust Communists If Elected

Los Angeles, Sept. 24—(AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey promised tonight to start a "mighty world wide counter offensive" against communism if he is elected president in November.

The Republican nominee said it would be a counter-offensive of trust and hope, not of aggressive acts.

Dewey, in a major campaign address prepared for delivery at the Hollywood Bowl, 9:30 p.m., C.S.T., slugged hard at President Truman's "red herring" criticism of the congressional inquiry into communist activities.

He accused Mr. Truman of jeering at the threat of communism. And he charged his opponent's Democratic administration with giving "aid and comfort to the enemies of our system" of government.

Moving into Los Angeles 24 hours after the president's bid here last night for California's 25 electoral votes, Dewey declared:

"Some people jeer at this problem (of communism)—calling it a 'red herring.' Some people get panicky about it.

"I don't belong to either group. 'We must neither ignore the communists nor outlaw them. If we ignore them, we give them the cloak of immunity they want. If we outlaw them, we give them the martyrdom they want even more.'

Then the GOP candidate laid down this plan of action: "We will keep informed and we'll keep the American people informed where they (the communists) are and what they're up to.

"If they or anyone else break our laws against treason, they'll get their treatment.

"If they engage in sabotage or break any other laws we'll jail them. 'If our laws aren't adequate, we'll get ones which are.

"But in this country we'll have no thought police. We will not jail anybody for what he thinks or believes.

"So long as we keep the communists as long as we keep in the open, in the light of day, the United States of America has nothing to fear from them within its own borders."

Dewey travels north from here to San Francisco for an address there tomorrow night.

French Workers Strike In Protest To Living Costs

Paris, Sept. 24—(AP)—A two-hour nation-wide general strike of 7,000,000 workers against the cost of living passed calmly in France today.

Carried out in a half-hearted way, it proved far less than 100 per cent effective.

The worst inconvenience was caused in Paris by an additional 24-hour subway and bus strike. The capital area's 4,000,000 residents good humoredly jammed the streets on foot and bicycles and somehow got to and from work.

The United Nations general assembly in session here continued functioning normally throughout the demonstration.

Some government employees quit work, but essential services such as gas, electricity and automatic telephones kept functioning.

Most department stores and cafes in Paris did not close during the hour of the strike, 4 to 6 p.m. Many industrial plants closed down temporarily and at many offices the workers loitered near their desks for the strikers' period.

FPC May Prevent Resumption Of Gas Delivery In State

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 24—(AP)—The Federal Power commission today filed suit to enjoin Illinois Power company from restoring a 50 per cent cutback in natural gas deliveries to 15 industrial users.

U.S. District Judge Charles G. Briggie set hearing next Thursday on whether to issue a temporary restraining order.

The Federal commission contended in its petition that Illinois Power properly put the curb into effect last Monday, but improperly removed it two days later at the Illinois Commerce commission's direction.

The cutback was ordered by the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line company which supplies five Illinois distributing utilities, including Illinois Power, as well as utilities in Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and other states.

Russ Shoots Into Corridor, Mark No Hits

Berlin, Sept. 24—(AP)—The Russians slammed anti-aircraft fire into the crowded airlift corridor today—without hitting anything.

They told the Americans and British about it officially on August and a half after the shooting started. The target practice lasted three and a half hours at Döle airport, 25 miles west of Berlin in the Buckeburg air lane used by British and American planes on their return flight from this city.

Then the Russians posted notice that they intended to shift to anti-aircraft firing, which could include practice shooting at ground targets, and possibly some bomb dropping.

The Soviet shooting failed to deter the supplying of Berlin by air, but incited British-American authorities to a new protest.

The complaint was their second in two days against Soviet antics in the corridor. A Yak fighter played dangerously close to an airliner with 30 passengers in the corridor yesterday—a wing-to-wing performance that appeared to have no purpose.

Airforce officers were especially indignant about the anti-aircraft fire. One officer said the stuff was being thrown "dangerously high"—up to 10,000 feet "which is as high as we fly."

In the second place, he said, the notification from the Russians that they intended to hold target practice came "an hour and a half late" and was a little less than polite.

Despite this, airlift planes logged another 3,613 tons of food and coal to Berlin in 44 flights.

Newspaper War

Almost as explosive as the air incidents was the outbreak of a "newspaper war" in which the Americans ordered all Soviet-sponsored newspapers and publications banned from the United States zone of Germany. The ban did not apply to the American sector of Berlin.

The Russians already had effectively banned all western publications from their zone and Berlin sector by setting up a tight communist-controlled distribution monopoly to handle all printed matter.

Grand Jury Investigates Cook County Jail Break

Chicago, Sept. 24—(AP)—A grand jury investigation of a break from the Cook County jail will begin Monday, States Attorney William J. Tuohy announced today.

Sheriff Elmer Michael Walsh, Warden Frank Sain, and four jail officials have been subpoenaed to appear before the jury, Tuohy said. The jail officials—two guards and two assistant superintendents—were discharged by Sheriff Walsh earlier this week as a result of the break.

Three prisoners escaped last Saturday. Two were recaptured, but Edward Vleck, 21, sentenced for robbery, is still at large.

Tuohy said that under Illinois law the person responsible for a prisoner's escape from the sheriff's custody may be fined $1,000.

Sheriff Walsh, who is in charge of operation of the jail, promised to assist the grand jury "in every manner."

Warren William, Movie Star, Dies

Hollywood, Sept. 24—(AP)—Suave debonair Warren William, stage and movie favorite for 30 years, died of a rare blood disease today after an illness of nearly a year.

The 53-year-old William, yachtsman, inventor and owner of one of the most beautiful estates in film-land, had been in failing health for several years. But Dr. Stanley Gordon said the actor never rallied completely from an attack of virus x suffered last November.

He is survived by his widow, Helen, with whom he recently observed his 25th wedding anniversary, and two sisters, Mrs. Pauline E. K. Martin and Mrs. New York City and Mrs. C. S. Lyon of Fort Washington, N.Y.

Forecasts for Illinois — Fall with little change in temperature Saturday.

ATTACK ADDRESS

Moscow, Sept. 24—(AP)—A Tass dispatch from Paris today described U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall's address to the United Nations general assembly as a political maneuver connected with the American presidential campaign.

SAFETY ON THE RAILROADS

As everyone knows, the railroads have long had an enviable record as one of the safest forms of transportation ever devised. And just how fine that record has become is detailed in a report made by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Association of American Railroads.

Last year fewer people lost their lives in railroad accidents than in any of the 49 prior years covered by Commission statistics. The number of fatalities was 42 percent under 1937, 58 percent under 1917, and 64 percent less than in 1907. And this progress was made, as The New York Times points out, in the face of the fact that the volume of service performed is much greater than in the past.

The Times goes on to give a graphic picture of just how safe the railroads are. Last year their passenger service was equivalent to moving every man, woman and child in the country 319 miles—yet there were only 66 fatalities. As The Times puts it, "An individual traveling by rail at 50 miles an hour, 24 hours a day, would require almost 1,600,000 years before he could expect to be killed." It would be a timid soul indeed who'd worry when the odds are so enormously in his favor!

The railroads' achievement in the field of safety, like their achievements in every other field of operation, didn't happen by chance. It came about through constant improvement of equipment—through the most careful training of personnel—and by hard work and watchfulness day in and day out over the years.

Jobs Lacking for Singapore

Singapore.—(P)—This key British colony in the Far East will, within a generation, face a grave problem of mass unemployment, says Singapore Commissioner for Labor R. P. Bingham. The coming unemployment, he says, will be due to a rapidly expanding population and restricted "avenues of employment." Even today," Bingham adds, "there are more people of employable age in Singapore than there are jobs." In Singapore now there are 30,000 more births than deaths each year. This results, says Bingham, in about 1,000 persons each month reaching the age to work. But opportunities for employment, he says, so far are limited by a lack of large industries in the colony.

State Supreme Court Finds Morgan School District Unit Valid

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 24.—(AP)—The Illinois supreme court today upheld validity of the 1947 community unit school district law.

The ruling removed a legal cloud over 133 community unit districts organized under the 1947 act. These districts have more than 100,000 pupils and their area covers more than a fourth of the state.

Vernon L. Nickell, state school superintendent, commented that he was "happy" about the decision. He said the law represents a "forward step" in promoting school administrative efficiency.

Under the law, a community can group a number of districts into a single unit. It breaks away from township and county lines in formation of districts.

The case was appealed to the supreme court by State's Attorney William L. Fay of Morgan county. He attacked the law as a tool for "land grabbing" and challenged validity of the Waverly community 12-grade district approved by voters in August, 1947. The circuit court upheld the act.

One of the main objections was that in formation of the unit districts, existing districts could be left with such a small fraction of their territory that it would be financially impossible to maintain schools. The objectors argued that this was in violation of a state constitutional section that the legislature must provide a "thorough and efficient system of free schools."

Crampton Writes Opinion
Justice Albert M. Crampton of Moline, who wrote the high court's opinion, said:

"This court has always been consistent in holding that the question of the efficiency and thoroughness of the school system... is one solely for the legislature to answer and that the courts lack power to intrude."

"The mere fact of a school district being fractioned when a community unit school district is organized does not ipso facto establish that the school system, within the emancipated district, lacks efficiency and thoroughness."

Another major contention concerned a provision of the law that only voters residing in the proposed new district could take part in an election called to create it.

Justice Crampton found that the constitution "does not guarantee that every person with a patent interest in the outcome of a school election has, because of that interest, a right to vote therein."

"His right to vote therein is purely a permissive one bestowed by legislative grace..."

The Waverly District
Here is how the law worked at Waverly:

More than 100 persons drew up a map of the proposed new district. It took in all of some old districts and carved up others. A total of 25 Sangamon and Morgan county school districts were affected.

As required by the law, the map included an area with at least 2,000 residents and $5,000,000 in assessed property valuation. The Sangamon county school superintendent called an election, after being petitioned to do so, and voters approved the new district.

The supreme court also answered the question of what happens to the bonded indebtedness of dissolved districts included in the community district. It held that as in the case of municipal corporation, the contracts and indebtedness are assumed by the new district.

On the subject of teachers' tenure, the opinion said teachers in a district wholly absorbed into a community unit will find their contractual rights unimpaired, for the new district stands in place of the old one.

"Where a district is fractioned and a school building is lost to the community unit school district, the teachers therein still maintain their contractual relationship with the fractioned district."

The teachers' contracts would be subject to adjustment between the old and new districts only in event the board of directors of the old district did not choose to end the employment of a particular teacher, the opinion added.

The test case upon which the Illinois supreme court ruled Friday was instituted in Morgan county circuit court several months ago by State's Attorney W. L. Fay, who filed quo warranto proceedings of the People of Illinois vs. Deatherage et al., dealing with the Waverly unit district.

Judge Clem Smith in circuit court sustained the validity of the new district, after which the suit was appealed to the supreme court.

States Attorney Fay stated Friday that the quo warranto proceeding which he instituted was filed at the request of the Waverly school board in order to remove legal obstacles which had prevented the issuance of bonds to raise funds for the construction of new school buildings.

"The way is now clear for new consolidated unit districts all over the state to go ahead with their building plans," Mr. Fay said.

Both types of consolidations which have developed in the Morgan county school system thus have been validated by court action. The South Jacksonville grade school community consolidation was upheld by the supreme court a number of months ago.

Superintendent Pleased
John Deem, Morgan county superintendent of schools, expressed satisfaction with the supreme court ruling, as the future of the county educational system hinges largely on consolidations which have been effected within the past few years.

"Morgan county has assumed leadership in forming and testing consolidated districts," Supt. Deem said. "We are proud of the part this county has played in bringing recognition and order to the new type educational districts."

Mr. Deem said school conditions would have been chaotic had the supreme court ruled against the consolidation law.

Three large merger districts are now functioning in Morgan county. These include the Waverly unit, Alexander - Franklin - Nortonville unit, and Arenville - Concord - Chapin - Meredosia consolidation.

Dutch Woman Speaker At Annual Home Bureau Meet

The Morgan County Home Bureau has secured Mrs. Rieha Oud of Haarlem, Holland, as speaker for its 12th annual meeting, which is to be held Friday, Oct. 15, at Centenary Methodist church.

MRS. RIEHA OUD

Mrs. Oud, a noted lecturer in her own land, is a member of the Associated Country Women of the World, the Dutch Country Woman's association and the North Holland Executive committee, in which she holds the office of vice president for North Holland.

Born on a farm in South Africa, Mrs. Oud attended a farm school and boarding school, after which she took two years teachers training in Cape Town. She then went to college and studied three years as a domestic science teacher. In Scotland, she received her diploma in dressmaking, high class cookery and public demonstration.

Mrs. Oud taught domestic science at a girls' school in South Africa. Shortly afterwards she was married and went to Haarlem, Holland, where she adapted to a strange country and people. She has a son 15 and a daughter 11.

In 1939, Mrs. Oud attended the A.C.W.W. conference in London, substituting for her mother, who was unable to attend. Mrs. Oud is familiar with the workings of the A.C.W.W., having attended the meetings since she was a child, when she went in company with her mother, then secretary of the Association of Country Women of the Union of South Africa. During her college days, she often gave demonstrations at the meetings.

Since the war, Mrs. Oud has been lecturing and broadcasting in her own country, where she has distinguished herself as spokeswoman for the country woman. The public is cordially invited to hear her address at the Home Bureau meeting. The talk will be given at 1:30 p.m.

HILARY had been pondering the matter of self-exorcism, and arriving nowhere. At last he consulted the dictionary with-out much hope.

"Exorcise: to clear (a person or place) of evil spirits; to purify or set free from malignant influences," he read.

All this rather hurt his feelings and got him no further. Evil he was not, malignant. Obviously, "exorcise" was the wrong term.

But the idea was growing on him that Sabrina, since she was making herself ill and unhappy, must be encouraged to get clear of the whole thing, including himself, if she could, at least for a time. He had decided not to attempt to interfere with her departure, nor influence her to continue her futile fight to be near him. This meant loneliness and readjustment of his days at Nuns Farthing, but he felt it would be best for her.

Conceivably, she would find her own way back to him some day. By then, the house would have a bad name—he would see to that—and they would be allowed to have it to themselves. A long, long wait for him, perhaps; years of unmeasured time in endless solitude. Presumably he would grow no older. And she? Sabrina—old?

Suddenly he was more afraid for Sabrina than he had ever been for himself in a perilous lifetime. What was ahead for her? Where would she turn in her loneliness and confusion? They would encourage her to marry some fool like George or like her father. She would be frightened—she would not understand—she would not know that he was waiting—she would make mistakes and be miserable. . . .

White-faced, silent, gallant in her tearlessness, she came on into the room and, starting at the mantelpiece, began to tend it for the last time; picked a fallen rose petal from beneath the vase on the mantelshelf—with her handkerchief wiped an imaginary speck of dust from a silver candlestick—straightened the silk cushion in the chair where the book about ghosts had lain—adjusted a fold of the curtain beside the sunny window seat.

THE same sort of panic he had known that night at the club, when he heard his own death announced by Denby, welled up in him again, so that he beat frantically against the invisible barriers of his own helplessness. Anything could happen to Sabrina now, and he was powerless even to catch her tears on his lips. It set him pacing the floor, at grips once more with immensities no man should have to face. Sabrina, setting out alone into the world again, lost, betrayed, and bewildered. And he had to let her go. There was no way to keep her here, and he had no right to try. Oh, God, keep her safe—you meant her to be safe.

An early morning reconnaissance had shown him that departure was imminent, but he was not quite prepared for her stricken look and feverish eyes, now that she stood leaning against the closed door as though she had no strength left to stand alone.

"But you haven't lost me, you know," he told her reasonably, like a man who puts aside his own anxieties to soothe a sick child. "I've been reading luggage labels, I know exactly where you'll be in London. I'll keep track of things, always. We won't end like this. I don't know yet what happens, but this isn't the end, you can be sure of that."

White-faced, silent, gallant in her tearlessness, she came on into the room and, starting at the mantelpiece, began to tend it for the last time; picked a fallen rose petal from beneath the vase on the mantelshelf—with her handkerchief wiped an imaginary speck of dust from a silver candlestick—straightened the silk cushion in the chair where the book about ghosts had lain—adjusted a fold of the curtain beside the sunny window seat.

where Muffin loved to lie—cast a critical eye over the immaculate polished surface of the desk, setting the blotter true by the fraction of an inch—touched lightly with a caress one of the sphinx book-ends he had thought highly of—moved on into the bedroom end and paused at the tall chest of drawers to straighten Alice's picture. And as she turned away towards the bedside table her eyes fell on the collar box beside the silver frame.

THE collar box. Her mind flew back to the day of the treasure hunt, when the loose catch had first tempted her exploring fingers—winged collars for evening wear—and in the center space something small and black and cold, like a snake.

"Sabrina," said Hilary apprehensively, watching from across the room.

She stretched out both hands to the collar box, drew it forward to the edge, and opened the lid. A shiver ran through her as she saw again the little black gun in its nest. To think she had almost forgotten it, when perhaps it was the answer to everything.

Perhaps that was why it was here. Surely if she died now, here in the room, Hilary's arms would close round her at last. And then she needn't leave him—ever.

"Sabrina, don't touch it—it's loaded—it will go off—" She laid hold of the handle firmly—cold, like a snake—and lifted the gun out of the box.

"Sabrina, you've got to hear me! Put it back! You've got to go on living—even if you seem to lose touch with me—" Inevitably her finger found the safety catch and released it with a small click.

"But they're right, Sabrina, I'm not good for you! You'll grow up, you'll live your life, and then, when it's time, we'll be together again. Sabrina—don't!"

She did not hear him. She had never heard him. She stood looking down at the gun in her hand, fearlessly now with a sort of curiosity. Slowly the muzzle was turning in towards her body.

Final Checking Started On 4-H Project Books

Miss Erma Cottingham, University of Illinois extension specialist in 4-H club work in the west central district, began the final checking of project books Friday morning.

The books which Miss Cottingham is checking are records of the projects undertaken during the year by members of 4-H home economics clubs in Morgan and Scott counties, who are seeking project honors or outstanding membership awards.

The projects fall into six divisions: dairy foods, clothing, cookies, food preservation, way of using fruits and vegetables and room improvement.

To enter a project in competition for the honors award, a girl must have been active in 4-H work for at least two years. More than 100 girls are vying for this honor.

Girls competing for the outstanding membership awards must have at least three years work completed. Close to 50 girls are seeking these awards.

Preliminary checking of the project books was done by leaders of the various 4-H clubs throughout the two counties earlier this week. Miss Cottingham expects to have the final check completed next Monday.

Awards will be presented to the girls who qualify for either the project honors awards or the outstanding membership awards at the annual Achievement Day, sponsored by the local Chamber of Commerce.

Rotary Club Hears Earl Smith Talk On Agriculture

Earl C. Smith of Detroit, Ill., past president of the Illinois Agricultural association, was the guest speaker at the Rotary club dinner held at the Dunlap hotel Friday. He was introduced by Carter Wilson.

Evidently well recovered from his recent illness, the Pike county farm leader spoke forcefully upon the importance of agriculture to the nation's economy.

He deplored the recent price drops for farm products and predicted a lower national income for the country in 1949. He based this estimate upon past records which indicate the national income of one year ranges from six and one-half to eight times the agricultural income for the preceding year.

"Agriculture and its welfare directly affects every segment of our national welfare, whether you want to admit it or not," he asserted.

He spoke briefly on the parity formula, its importance, and the variance between its standards and the prices many farm commodities are selling for today. This country, some day, will have to strike a balance between wages, prices and profits, he declared.

Three Optimist Speakers Tell Of Work With Boys

Three men engaged in welfare and law enforcement activities spoke to the Optimist club Friday night concerning rehabilitation work that is being done with boys who have returned to this community from correctional institutions.

Ralph Heiss of the Jacksonville public school system, who is in charge of pupil personnel work; Lloyd Gohn of the Youth Division of the Illinois Welfare Department, and Deputy Sheriff James Kimbrell, Morgan county probation officer, discussed methods for helping wayward boys.

The talks were in line with the Optimist club's program designed to benefit youth, particularly those who have encountered trouble. The speakers gave several case histories showing how counsel and encouragement helped boys to go straight after they were admitted to probation.

Information presented by the speakers showed that a large percentage of boys who leave St. Charles state school return to their home communities, attend school, and make a success of their fresh start.

The club members assured the speakers of continued interest and assistance in boy's work.

Judge Paul Fenstermaker returned to his duties as president after a several week's vacation.

SIGN OF COURTESY WANTED

Anna, Ill. (P) — The Anna Rotary club didn't like the city's new speed warnings. So it wrote city council: "The club feels that these signs are in very poor taste, and do not make a very good impression upon visitors to our city. We feel that it would have been more appropriate to read 'Speed limit 20 miles per hour strictly enforced.' Instead, the posted signs read: '20 MI. Per Hr. or SEE the JUDGE.'"

Montadale Ewe Takes Trophy

A relatively new breed of sheep, the Montadale, is moving eastward and finding favor with breeders in the Cornbelt. Shown in the photograph are Mr. and Mrs. Francis Courrier of New Berlin and their Montadale ewe, winner of the grand championship award at the DuQuoin fair.

The breed was developed from the Corriedale by ranchers of Montana assisted by the bureau of animal husbandry, University of Montana. The breed dates back to 1913, but little progress was made until 1932. The association's office, located in St. Louis, reports Montadale breeders are now located in 29 states.

According to the breed standard the animal must have a small head with open white face; ewes must weigh 120 pounds in 12 months and lambs must average 85 pounds in four and one-half months. The ewes must average ten to 12 pounds of wool grading long staple, 8 blood combing.

My Time Is Your Time After Saturday Night

Well, we're all going to get together again Sunday, as far as time is concerned.

Daylight savings time is scheduled to make its exit in the wee hours Sunday morning, after which clocks and watches in the Jacksonville area will tick again in synchronized contentment.

No more mixups. No more confusion. Just one time belt for Morgan county. Most people will welcome the return of standard time for the fall and winter months, through some prefer daylight saving time during the hot months.

Remember way back in April when clocks in Jacksonville were turned up one hour? There's nothing complicated about the reversion to standard time. All that is necessary is to turn the timepieces back one hour Saturday night before retiring. Then everything will be in perfect order Sunday morning.

The daylight saving ordinance remains on the books, providing for fast time in Jacksonville each summer. Indications are, however, that an election will be held on the question before another summer rolls around.

A city election will be held next spring. Many citizens favor submission of the time proposition to the people. Steps are expected to be taken early next spring to decide between daylight and standard time by putting it up to the voters.

Daylight saving time ends officially at 2 a. m. Sunday. During the night Jacksonville citizens will get back that hour of sleep they surrendered last April.

HUNGER'S LABOR LOST

London, (P) — Miss Elizabeth Diaper arrived in food-short England from Nairobi with a precious package. She had flown nearly 5,000 miles holding it carefully on her lap.

In Buckingham Palace Road she dropped it—and a double-decker bus squelched over a pound of butter, a pound of tea, a pineapple and a dozen eggs.
